

EDGE advertisement

International PhD Program in the BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

The highly competitive International PhD Program in the Biological Sciences at the Max Planck Institute for Developmental Biology and Friedrich Miescher Laboratory of the Max Planck Society in Tuebingen, Germany, provides outstanding training in cutting-edge research in

EDGE track

Evolutionary Biology
Developmental Biology
Genetics
Ecology

PhD students start immediately with their research project individually supervised by well-published scientists. Select courses and events complement lab work, while a student body of 100 students from more than 25 countries provides a fun and supportive environment. All positions are fully funded for up to 4 years.

Applications are currently invited from qualified students receiving their MSc or Diplom degrees by June 2014.

Application deadline: September 15, 2013

For details and access to the online application system please visit phd.eb.tuebingen.mpg.de.